TEDDY BEARS GET VICTORY RIDE

Kelowna Melkio Teddy Bears were treated to the traditional "Champions Ride" aboard the local fire brigade truck Saturday afternoon. The local cage squad won the Canadian Senior

B Ladies' Basketball Championship two straight against the Toronto Shamrocks. Above the girls, along with coach Bob Hall are perched on the fire wagon just prior to being driven

West Rejects Russia's Disarmament Proposals

GENEVA (Reuters)—The West today rejected Russia's five basic principles for complete disarmament after expressing "profound disappointment" in them.

Western delegates also rejected a Soviet proposal that the nuclear powers should pledge not to be the first to use nuclear weapons.

British delegate David Ormsby-Gore, speaking for all five Western delegations, including Canada, told today's session the Soviet principles have "nothing new in them at all."

SHEEP'S CLOTHING

He added: "Surely Mr. Zorin could not have thought that the sheep's clothing with which he sought to clothe the so-called basic principles could for one instant disguise the familiar wolf within."

U.S. delegate Frederick Eaton also criticized the Soviet proposals at today's session.

The conference entered its second month today with East and West still unable to agree on how to start negotiations.

Delegates have only 19 days left before starting a six-week recess which will send them home during the summit conference opening in Paris May 16. Both sides agreed to the adjournment.

There has been considerable speculation that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will unveil a new Russian proposal at the summit talks to break the deadlock here.

BASIC SPLIT
The conference stalled because of rival stands on what should be talked about first.

The West wanted to begin by negotiating control measures for international disarmament. The Communist bloc insisted on negotiating disarmament measures first and then ways of control.

Brief Urges Increased Aid To Municipalities

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Board of Trade has proposed a $40,000,000 increase in provincial aid to the municipalities.

The board says B.C.'s towns, cities and districts need that much more help to provide municipal services.

Wartime Latvia Refugee Marries Millionaire's Son

HAMILTON (CP)—A modern-day Cinderella story came true Sunday when Iolde Silkovskis, a wartime refugee from Latvia, married Hayes C. Lamont, son of a New York millionaire.

The couple, both 26, was married in a simple ceremony in Trinity Lutheran Church in Hamilton, where Iolde's father is caretaker of a home for the aged.

Iolde, a post-graduate biology student at McMaster University here, met her husband, a medical student at Harvard University, at a biology convention last year at Woods Hole, Mass.

Mr. Lamont is the son of Corliss Lamont of Columbia University and the grandson of Thomas W. Lamont, a former executive in the financial empire of the late J. P. Morgan.

INFORMAL MEETING

"I met him across the table in a dining hall," recalled Iolde. "It was all very informal."

The bride, wearing a floor-length ivory satin gown, paused to pin a white rose to the groom's lapel before they walked to the altar, which was decorated with a dozen red roses.

Her mother, Anna, played the organ during the service.

Rev. Edward Pavasars, who performed the marriage, described her as a studious and devout girl.

Six Guerillas Die In Bomb Explosion

ALGIERS (AP)—Six rebel guerillas were reported killed in the east Algerian town of Tizi Ouzou today as they were rigging a time bomb several hours before the arrival of French Premier Michel Debre.

A ring of troops was thrown around the town, about 60 miles east of Algiers in the Kabylie Mountains, where Debre was due for a civilian and military inspection.

Italian Gov't Leader Quits

ROME (AP)—The 17-day stop-gap government of Premier Fernando Tambroni collapsed today.

The 58-year-old Christian Democrat hastened to present his resignation to President Giolitti.

Giolitti after a heated 2 1/2-hour cabinet meeting and a request from his own party to resign.

A communique issued after the cabinet meeting said "in view of the general political situation and the resignation of three cabinet members" it was useless to go before the Senate for a confidence vote.

If the province adopted proposals made in the fields of education, hospital, transportation and social services, municipal tax loads would be lightened by about the same amount, the board says in a brief prepared for the provincial cabinet.

The proposals came after a five-month study by the board of an earlier proposal by the Union of B.C. Municipalities which endorsed them to a substantial degree.

A COMMENTARY

The board report is a commentary and amendment, point by point, of specific recommendations in the UBCM policy statement.

The board proposes that all operating costs on schools increase progressively from the present 50-50 sharing to an eventual 100 per cent.

It also proposes that 80 per cent of hospital construction and other capital costs instead of the present 50 per cent be paid by the province.

The board "rejects entirely" the claim that local school boards would lose autonomy if the province paid more of the school bill.

NOT UNDERMINED
Independence of local boards would not be undermined if the government was determined not to encroach and if the school boards were determined to preserve their autonomy, the board report said.

SALES UP
OTTAWA (CP)—Department store sales rose two per cent in February to $37,920,000 from $36,216,000 in the same month last year, the bureau of statistics estimated today. The January-February total edged up 0.9 per cent to $179,749,000 from $178,092,000 a year ago.

VARIOUS EXCUSES

Monarchs Shunning Royal Wedding?
LONDON (Reuters)—A British newspaper pondered today why "none of Europe's reigning monarchs" will be present when Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones are married here May 6.

The Sunday Graphic termed it "extraordinary that European royalty is finding excuses for not attending."

The paper gave this run-down on what Europe's leading royalty will be doing instead on the big day:

Sweden—King Gustav and his wife Queen Louise, who is an aunt of Margaret's brother-in-law Prince Philip, will be entertaining the Shah of Iran and his new bride, Farah, on May 5-6.

PREVIOUS ENGAGEMENT

Belgium—A spokesman at the royal palace said it has not been decided whether anyone would attend. King Baudouin has a long-standing engagement in Antwerp that day.

If anybody goes, the spokesman said, it probably will be the king's younger brother, Prince Albert.

The Netherlands—Crown Princess Beatrix is due to visit the province of Limburg that day and the date "cannot possibly be dropped."

KELOWNA TELEGRAPH OFFICES AMONG FIRST TO AMALGAMATE?

The manager of the local Canadian Pacific Telegraph office says the proposed merger between CP and Canadian National Telegraphs won't come about for at least two years.

"It will take them (CN and CP) that long before they're through negotiating with the union" Fred J. Chivers told The Courier today.

Commenting on a rumor that the two Kelowna telegraph offices would be among the first in Canada to be amalgamated, Chivers said, "it's too early to say yet... it's all hearsay."

The two national communication companies are attempting to join telegraph stations across Canada. Fort Williams, Ont., is being used as a test case.

The telegraphers union is strongly opposed to the move. They argue a merger would put hundreds of employees out of work. Union members across Canada have mailed protest postcards to Transport Minister Hees.

Simone Has Many Job Offers But They're Unsatisfactory

MONTREAL (CP)—French movie actress Simone Signoret says her job prospects are numerous but unsatisfactory.

Stopping here Sunday en route to Paris from Hollywood by plane, she told reporters that she has been "deluged" with offers from movie-makers since winning an Academy Award last week as the outstanding actress of 1959.

"Being a woman," she said, "I am naturally flattered... but I am not interested in any of the offers I've had so far. Making a million dollars is not my sole objective in life."

"Unless they find me a truly remarkable script, I will be satisfied to stay home."

In private life she is the wife of noted Parisian actor-singer Yves Montand.

She had one more contract to fulfill before she could be a "free woman."

"I signed with an Italian producer to make a film in Rome about two years ago and they are holding me to my contract. In the film I will play another lady of easy virtue."

"I'm getting rather tired of that type of role. I am really a very nice girl in real life."

Seaway Shipping Hampered By Ice

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Ice scattered through the St. Lawrence and the upper Great Lakes still hampered lake shipping today although Lakes Erie and Ontario are relatively ice-free.

The federal government ice-breaker Lapointe began clearing a channel through the St. Lawrence lock Sunday, opening the first section of the ice-blocked St. Lawrence Seaway. Some seaway channels were still blocked with ice although the seaway is scheduled to open next Friday.

Three icebreakers were being used to clear the Neelsh channel of the lower St. Marys River at Sault Ste. Marie during the weekend.

Armed Police Continue To Round Up Negroes

JOHANNESBURG (CP)—Paul Oliver Saur, chief of the Nationalist party in Parliament, took over today as South African government leader in place of wounded Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd. Saur promptly pledged to carry on Verwoerd's apartheid policies.

Saur, 62, is minister of lands in the cabinet. He takes over the helm as senior member of the cabinet, but will not serve as acting prime minister, External Affairs Minister Eric Louw said. But Saur will preside at cabinet meetings.

Saur told Parliament the government will continue on its regular program and Verwoerd's course, adding "The rest of the cabinet will see that peace and order are maintained."

"As far as Parliament is concerned there will not be any deviations from the existing program as a result of what has happened," Saur declared.

"We don't know how long Dr. Verwoerd will be incapacitated and when he will be able to resume his duties but Parliament will carry out its present program."

Saur introduced a motion expressing gratitude that Verwoerd had not been killed and wishing him a speedy recovery. It was adopted unanimously.

Saur said doctors "considered it to be a miracle that a permanent injury had not been caused" and that Verwoerd was not killed.

Even as Saur spoke South Africa's white police and courts continued to take sharp action to quell racial strife and continuing Negro work boycotts against white supremacy laws.

A medical bulletin said Verwoerd still is weak but making progress, adding: "Reassurance can be given that there is no sign of paralysis and, according to the progress made so far, paralysis is not expected."

Reuters news agency said that police today decided to detain Verwoerd's 35-year-old son, David Pratt, 32, under current emergency regulations without a court arraignment for the time being.

It was also announced that the state of emergency, which originally applied only to the main trouble centres in South Africa, has been expanded to cover a total of 122 districts.

RAID SETTLEMENT
Armed police, supported by armored cars, staged big door-to-door raids on a Negro settlement five miles outside Johannesburg.

Scores of Negroes were hauled away in police trucks. Many weapons were reported taken in what Col. J. C. Lemmer, deputy commissioner of police, described as "a clean operation."

Car Crash Kills Five Youngsters In Kentucky

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—A car driven by a youth without an operator's licence rounded a back road into a swollen creek Sunday night, killing the youth's brother and sister and three cousins.

The five youngsters, ranging in age from 10 to 16, were drowned in Canoe Creek, which crosses a back road near this Ohio River town in western Kentucky.

The driver, 16-year-old Charles Walker, escaped through a window. He was the only survivor.

He said his brakes failed as he nally applied only to the main

Royal Bank Head Dies Suddenly In Scotland

PEEBLES, Scotland (CP)—James Muir, who rose from a junior clerk to become chairman and president of the Royal Bank of Canada, died Sunday while on a quiet drive through his native countryside.

The loss of the 68-year-old financier was mourned on both sides of the Atlantic.

Cause of death was not disclosed.

Muir was visiting his Scottish birthplace—he had emigrated to Canada in 1912—and was staying with his sister, Mrs. T. C. Stewart, at Sheriffmuir. He was at the wheel of his car during an afternoon drive when he collapsed.

INFLUENTIAL VIEWS

As the director of Canada's largest chartered bank, Muir's views on the country's economy were followed closely by business and government circles.

A blunt man, he never hesitated to make his opinions known in clear decisive language.

In addition to his positions at the Royal Bank, Muir was an officer or director of 13 other corporations and was the governor of four hospitals, two universities and one college.

Muir was a director of Thompson's Scotsman Publications Limited and recently was appointed to the board of Thompson Newspapers Limited.

Muir had had some banking experience before emigrating to Canada. He started in Canada as a junior clerk in Moose Jaw, Sask., and in 1935 was appointed assistant general manager.

He became president of the bank in 1949.

Among the other firms of which he was a director were the Canadian Pacific Railway, Standard Brands and the New York and Montreal Trust Company.

Muir is survived by his wife Phyllis, whom he married in 1919, and a daughter.

Weekend Death Toll Hits 15

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
A three-death car crash in Alberta and a Saskatchewan light-plane crash which killed two raised Canada's weekend accidental death toll to at least 15.

Ten of the deaths were in Western Canada.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local times Friday to midnight Sunday showed Alberta with five deaths, all in traffic accidents.

Three were killed in Saskatchewan and two each in British Columbia and Ontario. Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia each reported one death.

Gov't Integrity Fundamental Vote Issue, Says Finlayson

PENTICTON (CP) — Government integrity will be the fundamental issue of the next provincial election, says Dean Finlayson, Progressive Conservative provincial leader.

Finlayson, speaking to the Similkameen Association's nomination convention here Saturday night, charged the Social Credit government's "manipulation of the public debt to present a picture that is false," was proof the government's intentions are not honest.

He added PGE financing was an example of how the government "represents something as one thing when actually it is another."

He challenged government statements that the railway is making a profit.

"In truth they are operating at an approximate loss of $10,000 a year, simply by continuing to borrow to meet interest payments on debt when due."

Mr. Finlayson said PGE house records show that in 1959 the railway had an operating revenue of $9,500,000 and operating expenses of $7,500,000. But no provisions were made for a reserve for depreciation on $150,000,000 in railway equipment, or the repayment of $108,000,000 debt, and interest of $4,700,000 a year.

Mr. Finlayson said he expected a provincial election this spring, but it was postponed until fall because of Premier Bennett's recent operation.

The premier has made no official comment on the date of the election.

Mr. Gagliardi said the whole issue was really a "big do about nothing."

Murdo Fraser, reeve of the District of North Vancouver and president of Burrard Inlet Bridge and Tunnel Company, said last Thursday his group will insist that the new bridge be called the Second Narrows Bridge.

Mr. Fraser's group owns the existing 37-year-old Second Narrows Bridge and intends to keep the name.

Mr. Gagliardi said here Sunday: "We know they have a copy going to the name and I'm not hurt them in any way. When the time comes to give the new bridge a name it will be announced."

He added that the department hopes to work in harmony with the municipalities when the bridge is opened. The structure is expected to be completed this fall.

Vernon Airman Receives Queen's Commendation

OTTAWA — Her Majesty the Queen has been pleased to approve the Queen's Commendation for Valuable Service in the air to Flight Sergeant Keith M. Cameron, 31, of Vernon.

The award is being made for his action in controlling T-33 jet trainers for about 15 minutes when a severe headache seriously impaired the pilot's vision.

The incident occurred last October during a cross-country flight originating from Portage la Prairie, Man., in which he was a passenger. FS Cameron, who has had some civilian flying training, took control of the aircraft when he learned of the pilot's predicament and returned to the Portage radio beacon, descending through cloud and carrying out the required radio and cockpit checks. On arriving over the airbase, he expressed a willingness to land the speedy jet, but by this time the pilot had regained his eyesight sufficient ly to complete the approach and landing.

F/S KEITH M. CAMERON

In the words of the citation, FS Cameron's "resourcefulness and skill saved a valuable aircraft and possibly prevented loss of life."

Born in Vancouver, FS Cameron joined the RCAF in 1948 as an aircraft controller and served at various bases in western Canada until 1953, when he was transferred to No. 2 Fighter Wing at Grestenquin, France. Since 1957, he has been stationed at Portage la Prairie as a ground controlled approach (GCO) controller.

Record Sales Reported By Hudson's Bay

WINNIPEG (CP)—Record sales of $223,694,000 in the year ended Jan. 31, 1960 compared with $214,441,000 in the previous year were reported today by the Hudson's Bay Company.

Trading profits before taxes were up 1.1 per cent to $13,866,000 from $13,709,000. However, net trading profits after taxes were down to $6,986,000 or $1.25 a share from $7,384,000 or $1.32 a share.

Net current assets of the company were placed at $28,560,000 compared with $29,834,000 a year earlier. Fixed assets and trade investments totalled $59,114,000 compared with $54,636,000 last year.

Retail store sales rose to $144,662,000 from $139,160,000 but retail profit dropped to $3,792,000 from $4,918,000.

Mr. Campbell paid a $2.00 parking fine early this month. "The coin was deposited," but it is quite evident it did not register," Mr. Campbell states.

"I would suggest a courtesy card could be given to out-of-town people."

He speculated police constables could derive this information from licence plates and pink slips.

Gov't Will Not Argue Over Name For Bridge

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Highways Minister Gagliardi says the provincial government is not going to argue with municipal authorities over the name of a new $23,000,000 bridge now being built across Burrard Inlet at Vancouver.

Mr. Gagliardi said the whole issue was really a "big do about nothing."

Murdo Fraser, reeve of the District of North Vancouver and president of Burrard Inlet Bridge and Tunnel Company, said last Thursday his group will insist that the new bridge be called the Second Narrows Bridge.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Death ended the story of William (Billy the Kid) Stanciu, latest boyfriend in the tempestuous life of Beverly Aadland, 17, on the day he became 21.

Miss Aadland, the late Errol Flynn's last flame, said she herself narrowly escaped death when the muscular would-be actor fired a fatal bullet into his head during the weekend.

She told police Stanciu forced his way into her apartment Saturday, threatened to kill her, then said, "I love you too much... I can't kill you"—and shot himself.

Stanciu died Sunday in a hospital prison ward. He was booked on suspicion of rape Saturday.

Police listed his death as suicide and said they have no immediate plans for an inquest. An autopsy is pending.

RUINED LIFE
Beverly said he asked her to marry him and she refused. She added: "He told me that I had ruined his life—that he loved me, but I didn't love him, and he was going to kill me."

"That's a pack of lies," asserted Stanciu's brother, Kenneth, 22, another aspiring actor. "Beverly asked Billy to marry her a few weeks ago."

He asked: "Why would Billy want to rape her? He and Beverly have been going together every night for six weeks. Everybody in town knows that."

He said he was certain his brother would kill himself—"He wasn't that kind of guy. He had everything to live for."

The dead man, son of Romanian immigrants, had a juvenile arrest record. Police found him lying nearly nude in Beverly's apartment early Saturday.

LOOKS MATURE
Beverly, a slender platinum blonde who walks and talks like a mature woman, was held in juvenile hall under a law permitting detention in cases where there is a lack of adequate parental supervision. She faces a hearing Wednesday to determine if she has such supervision.

Now a night club entertainer, she was Flynn's steady companion for two years until he died of a heart attack in Vancouver last October. Her lawyers now are seeking a share of the late actor's estate for Beverly.

Her mother, Mrs. Florence Aadland, was in hospital being treated for what she says are rib injuries inflicted by Stanciu—an accusation denied by the dead youth's brother. She said Stanciu attacked her April 3 because she tried to break up his romance with Beverly.

Unique Air Show Slated For Kamloops

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Canadian and United States light planes dealers will display their newest models in a unique air show to be held here for three days beginning May 6.

About $1,000,000 worth of the latest in light aircraft will be on display at Fulton Field airport in the first annual show sponsored by Kamloops Aircraft Limited, city council, Kamloops board of trade and the village of North Kamloops.

Officials planning the show say it is believed to be the first time a display of all the light planes available will be assembled on one airfield.

The dealers will give demonstrations with the 31 new models registered for the show.

Among them will be an Italian four-seater executive's private jet capable of speeds up to 340 miles per hour and priced at $250,000.

An outstanding feature of the show will be the aerocar, a $10,000 combination car and plane from Washington state.

The premier has made no official comment on the date of the election.

Mr. Gagliardi said the whole issue was really a "big do about nothing."

Murdo Fraser, reeve of the District of North Vancouver and president of Burrard Inlet Bridge and Tunnel Company, said last Thursday his group will insist that the new bridge be called the Second Narrows Bridge.

Ok. Water Supply Lower Than Normal

Orchardists depending on Lake Okanagan for irrigation may have to brace themselves for a water shortage.

The snow cover in the Okanagan, one of the main water suppliers for the lake, is reported lighter than usual as of April 1. In addition, water contents of the snow are at near-record low in most areas.

The only bright spot in the monthly snow survey bulletin issued by the comptroller of water rights is the fact that heavy autumn rains have left the soil well-wetted. Little of the existing snow pack is expected to help soil priming.

"If soils had been dry, the forecast would have been much lower," the bulletin states.

The light snow pack, caused by light winter precipitation, was diminished even more by warm weather in the latter half of March. Water contents are down from a month ago.

The April-July inflow to Okanagan Lake is expected to be little more than half the 10-year average. The bulletin forecasts an inflow of 225,000 acre feet. This compares with the 1950-51 average of 418,000 acre feet and inflows of 500,000 in 1959 and 304,000 in 1958.

This forecast assumes that precipitation and temperatures will be normal. Heavy or light precipitation could increase or decrease expected runoff accordingly.

Light rainfall in March was not confined to the Okanagan. Most other interior areas also received little encouragement for a good summer supply of water.

Attempts Made Organize Banks

Overtures to organize bank employees have been made in at least one downtown bank.

Although all local bank managers called by The Courier have declined to comment, a stern "no comment" shingle, it is evident that organizing attempts by the Office Employees' Union (OEU) have stretched feelings into Kelowna.

In Greater Vancouver, distribution of leaflets and information cards among bank employees began Wednesday.

No such brochures have appeared yet in Kelowna, but employees of one downtown bank have received definite information concerning proposed certification as a union.

The Office Employees' Union wants to establish the Bank Employees' Association Local as one of its branches.

21 Men Register For Civil Defence At Oyama Fire Hall

OYAMA — Registration took place at the fire hall earlier this week for a 12-week rescue course in civil defence.

Instructing the 21 men who registered is H. W. Byatt, who recently completed a concentrated two-week rescue course in Vancouver.

He and P. Pipke made a flying trip to Kamloops, where they picked up a two and a half ton Civil Defence rescue training truck. This vehicle is equipped with all necessary apparatus for dealing with any type of emergency. It will be most useful for practical demonstrations later in the course.

Local residents taking the course are: F. Hayward, D. Elliott, H. Butterworth, P. Pipke, D. Shumay, M. Dejar, K. Ellison, B. Gatzke, G. Sproule, L. Thomson, D. Young, G. Nairne, H. Taylor, A. Townsend, D. Taylor, D. Craig, N. Allingham, M. Poynt, G. Workman, C. Thomas and D. Eyles.

Most of the above are volunteer firemen who already hold basic firefighting and first aid certificates. They will be awarded a further certificate on completing the course.

Oyama is proud of these public-spirited members who will have the training to deal with almost any eventualities.

There are six bank branches in Kelowna. Bank employees in British Columbia number about 7,000.

The office workers hope to cover some 3,500 of them this week, in the Greater Vancouver area. They will move into the interior.

Bill Lowe, national vice-president of the Office Employees' Union, said:

"We aim to continue this drive until we have our message in the hands of every bank employee in the province. We hope before too long to be in a position to make application for certification to the Canada labor relations board."

MOSS TELLS VIMY DINNER:

Youth Of Today Alright If Dragoons Indication

The Presley slouch and current vogue in haircuts aren't as serious as we think, Lt. Col. Alan Moss, commanding officer of the B. C. Dragoons said Saturday.

This is his experience with young members entering the regiment, he told the 1960 Canadian Legion Vimy Dinner in the Legion Hall.

"When they come to us they are the despair of any good soldier," he said. "But they respond remarkably to training."

"If they represent the youth of today, we have nothing to worry about."

The regiment has 104 young soldiers—between 16 and 19 years—he said. 51 of them in Kelowna. The Dragoons are now 403 strong.

Col. Moss called on the Legion "as people who know what service means" to continue its support of the regiment along with all Okanagan communities.

"We are the B.C. Dragoons, but we are also the Okanagan's own regiment."

The regiment began 52 years ago as an independent force started at Coldstream.

A cavalry unit, it fought through the First World War as infantry. "There was a shortage of saddles."

It entered Vimy Oct. 22, 1916, and came out of the battle with two Victoria Crosses: the then Major George Pearkes, now Canada's defense minister; Capt. Jock McGregor who came to the regiment from Victoria.

The regiment's battle honors: First World War — Mount Sorrel; The Somme, 1916; Fleury-Courcellette, Vimy, 1917; Passchendaele; Amiens; Hindenburg Line; Cambrai, 1918; Pursuit to Mons; France and Flanders, 1915-18.

Second World War — Liri Valley; Melfa Crossing; Gothic Line; Pozzo Alto Ridge; Lamone Crossing; Conventello-Comacchio; Italy, 1944-45; Isselmer; Delszjil Pocket; Northwest Europe, 1945.

In a toast to the battle of the famous ridge, the audience heard the story of the founding of the great memorial there by the man who did most to bring about its construction, Col. D. C. Simson who was resident engineer during construction of the monument.

Toast to the Navy was made by J. L. Gordon, responded to by D. R. Johnson; the Army R. D. Knox, William Pittendreich; the Air Force, Ed Dickens; Frances Travis; the ladies — members of the Legion Womens Auxiliary who catered to the dinner — C. E. Coale Campbell, Mrs. Gordon Allen.

K.J.H.S. NEWS

The first signs of baseball and track are showing about the school. Students will very shortly begin training for the track early May. It will take place in Penticton.

Last week during the Okanagan Valley Music Festival our musical and choral speaking groups did very well. The junior band received an excellent mark of 85 which was above the mark required to win it.

The Grade 9 string ensemble, with a mark of 84, came out on top in their class. A mixed Grade 7, 8 and 9 choir of 170 voices entered by our school placed second with a score of 80 while the Grade 9 choir was victorious in its competition.

A spring concert which will include most of the groups entered by our school will be held May 6. The conductor of our orchestra, combined choir and choral speaking group was Mrs. DeLong. Mr. Knodel conducted our junior band and the Grade 9 choir. — Rae Willis, Robert DeHart.

Kelowna Film Council Praised For Award 'Quality, Originality'

The National Film Board has thanked the Kelowna Film Council for awards handed out at the 1959 film festival in Kelowna.

K. A. Williams, the board's regional supervisor in Vancouver, told the Associated Okanagan Film Councils he was "most impressed by the quality and originality of the award, and the effort which went into its creation."

"This is further evidence of the unselfish contribution which volunteers in the Okanagan are making to their community," Williams stated.

The awards were given to two National Film Board productions, "Living Stone" and "The Quest."

The letter was read at the April 8 meeting of the Kelowna Film Council, following the third showing in the current documentary film series presented jointly by the council and the Kelowna Library.

The main film shown April 6, entitled "The Gifted Ones," dealt with teaching methods for bright children.

The locally-used methods of handling talented students were explained afterwards by Claude Bissell, supervising principal of Kelowna elementary schools.

In other business, the summer show committee announced it is preparing for the "best outdoor film showings yet afforded the public."

Rummage Sale 'Stampede' Brings Boys' Club $177

The busiest rummage sale Kelowna has seen for a long time netted the mothers' auxiliary to the Kelowna Boys' Club $177 Saturday.

"It was a stampede," said Mrs. Harry Schuman, president of the auxiliary. "We couldn't get the people in. They were fighting and grabbing for everything once they did get in."

The Canadian Legion hall was crowded from 1 to 3 p.m. Everything except a few woollen items was sold.

The money will be used to outfit the boys' club's kitchen with dishes, cutlery and possibly linoleum or tile.

Short or Long Term View? Rural People Face Decision

This week canvassers will be calling on residents of the unorganized areas seeking their signatures to petitions to have their respective areas join the City of Kelowna.

The question is a complicated one and there are many arguments pro and con. However, it does seem essential that at this time it be drawn to the attention of the residents currently being canvassed that this is their last chance. There will be no second chance—at least not for so many years that it will matter to few of us.

Much work has gone into this effort to bring it to its present stage. All through the preliminary planning and conferences, representatives of the rural ratepayers and other rural bodies have sat in. The unorganized areas have been well represented on the planning committee and these persons are in agreement that the scheme is a fair one and that every consideration has been given the affected areas. They are in full support of the plan and believe that in the long run it will be beneficial to all.

The extension of city boundaries, if implemented, will mean much to every person in the area; not only to the City of Kelowna but to the residents of those outside areas which would be affected. The advantages to these rural areas have been well outlined and need no repetition here. We find it hard to believe that anyone looking at the long term would—could—do otherwise than sign the petition.

With some, however, there may be a danger of the short-term view appearing more attractive than the long-term view. To these people we would point out that whether they like it or not they are but a few short years away from some form of municipal government with its attendant problems. Health authorities in these areas will certainly insist on sewers and proper water supply within a very few years. Fire protection even now is essential. These are but a few of the steps these areas will have to adopt very soon whether or not they become part of the City of Kelowna. Certainly it requires no wise man to forecast that the cost of their own installations will be much heavier on them than it would be were they within the city and the cost spread over the whole city.

The short-term view is that a few dollars in taxes may be saved for a few years by remaining out of the city. The long-term view means sewers, water, fire protection, better policing and other advantages immediately or in the reasonable future. And these things at a much lesser cost than they can be provided as separate installations a few years hence.

Before refusing to sign the petition, we suggest that every rural resident approached ask himself whether it is wise to save a few tax dollars for a few years simply to spend more; much more within a very few years. It is as simply as that.

It should not be forgotten, too, that the time for decision has arrived and, equally important, once that decision is made that is the end. It is not drawing any longbow to say that should the rural residents turn down the present move, it will be many, many years before the City of Kelowna again makes such an approach. Failure of the extension program can only mean the city will withdraw within itself and the rural areas will have to face and solve their own problems which become more pressing every day.

French Settlers Preparing For Showdown with deGaulle

Right-wing French settlers are preparing for another showdown fight against President de Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algerians. Their activities are described in this story by Dave Oancia of the London Bureau of The Canadian Press who has just made a nine-day on-the-spot study of the situation.

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALGERS (CP)—A few apparently unconnected explosions in this volatile city may be the forerunner of more trouble for President de Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algerians.

Observers here say the recent blasts—in which there was no loss of life—were the work of European activists making a last ditch bid to get the French President to abandon his Algerian program and to have him declare once and for all that Algeria is part of France.

The explosions and co-ordinated propaganda campaign indicate a renewed effort by diehard European settlers to continue their political activity.

NOT CRUSHED

De Gaulle's triumph over the January uprising against his government seriously undermined the network of Europeans' political and para-military organizations.

But it was only a partial victory. This became clear when the French national assembly granted de Gaulle special powers to deal with the Algerian problem, which has souped France's energies, manpower and morale for half a decade.

The fact that he needed these powers makes it apparent that in dealing with the Europeans he has more to worry about than the hardies who manned the barricades in January.

Behind them are powerful political, economic and military interests who intend at any cost to nullify the president's promise of self-determination. To them genuine self-determination means the eventual loss of the North African territory.

BLASTS ARE SYMBOL

Part of their program is to "gently persuade" those who may oppose the settlers' cause in Algeria.

"The explosions are meant to be a sharp warning that we mean business," said one of the insurgents.

"We don't want to kill anybody. We just want to make sure that we aren't abandoned."

This source "guessed" that there are between 600 and 1,000 hard-core activists in Algiers, "but we'll have the support of practically all the European population when the time comes."

"The time," it developed, was the showdown with President de Gaulle's government for which the extremists are working and hoping. They even talk of success.

They mention as possible presidents either former finance minister Antoine Pinay, who resigned from de Gaulle's cabinet earlier this year, or Marshal Alisthene Juin, a man who has spoken against de Gaulle's Algerian policy.

SEEK ARMY SUPPORT

It is clear, too, that the activists are hoping for army support in working out their plans for a showdown. Without it, any moves by the Europeans would almost certainly be doomed to failure.

"No patriotic French soldier wants to fight for an Algerian Algeria," said one right-wing source.

The "Algerian Algeria" slogan coined by de Gaulle to garner Moslem support—in view of the settlers as a direct challenge to their cry for a "French Algeria."

De Gaulle is making determined efforts to bring the army under his control. Two years ago some of its officers in Algeria helped bring him to power. Now, he has removed from Algerian commands three of the generals who then supported him and transferred them back to France with at least a score of other high-ranking officers. Some of these are facing court-martial for giving or promising tactical support to the January insurgents.

NEW MEN COOL

Of the new crop of officers this reporter was able to meet, none seemed sympathetic to, or unduly concerned about, the efforts of the activists in Algiers.

"You must always remember that Algeria is not Algeria," said one colonel who arrived in North Africa from Paris in January. "I think the government's policy will win in the end."

Such statements contrast with the propaganda claims of the European activists.

Late in February French authorities were investigating the origin of tracts warning the population of the possibility of a new rising against the government. These documents, labelled respectively "Orders of the Day Number One and Number Two," were stuffed in mail boxes in several districts of the city.

Both were signed "The Patriots"—the term used by the insurgents in the closing days of the rising.

SETTLERS DEFIANT

The tract called "Order of the Day Number One" said the insurgents had stopped the French government from immediate negotiations with the Moslem rebels. It claimed that the French army agreed to persuade the insurgents to give up on condition that there would be no talks.

The tract added: "If the government has learned a lesson from these events . . .

then everything could be saved. But if for the country's misfortune, it will seek vengeance . . . then, patriots, the time will come soon to take up again and fight at the side of the army which remains vigilant and which loves and understands us."

Not all of the insurgents are on the run. Cafe proprietor Joseph Ortiz, one of the leaders, now is believed in either Belgium or Switzerland. His associate, bearded Pierre Lagallarde, is in jail.

But most of the men who stood behind the barricades were permitted to return home. About a dozen are in prison, a score under police surveillance and roughly 100 in a special volunteer army force fighting the rebels.

HIDDEN ARMS

Army sources said that a certain number of arms that had been in possession of the insurgents and of the now-dissolved territorial guard units, have not yet been located.

This indicates that although the Paris government won its first battle with the Algerian settlers in January, the new trial of strength has only just begun.

This trial will determine whether policy is to be dictated by the central government in Paris or by the right wingers and the army in Algeria.

The emergency powers give de Gaulle roughly a year, without risk of parliamentary obstruction, to reorganize the administrative structure in Algeria and to attempt a readjustment between military and civil authorities.

This may well be one of the most difficult tasks the president has undertaken in his efforts to break out of the vicious Algerian circle. The life of the Fifth Republic he created probably hinges on his success.

U.S. Scurrying For New Oil Markets

NEW YORK (AP)—The world surplus of oil today is sending U.S. industry scurrying for new market outlets. It's also raising research spending for new products or new uses for present ones. More cars on the highways just aren't enough.

Oilmen hope to get a larger share of the energy used in making iron and steel. They are seeking more use of their products by farmers—not just in their tractors but in their fields.

Research scientists seek to perfect a device to get electricity directly out of oil without combustion. They even are looking for a way to keep the St. Lawrence Seaway open the year around at an economic cost.

To cut the industry's own spending on drilling, some talk of the day when jet flames may bury their way into the earth and eliminate the present drill pipe and casing.

The American Petroleum Institute says the industry is spending around $300,000,000 a year on research and quotes predictions that this will rise sharply in the next couple of years.

API notes that more farm fields can be covered with asphalt film after seeds are planted. This lasts the five or six weeks needed for germination and breakdown and prevents evaporation of moisture. The U.S. agriculture department is testing this in arid areas.

BYGONE DAYS

10 YEARS AGO

April, 1950
Howls of rage went up from the travelling public as only one ferry was in operation over the Easter weekend, and some cars had to wait as long as four hours to get across the lake on the ferry.

Delegates from all over the province have been pouring into Kelowna to attend the annual general meeting of the Registered Sources Association of B.C.

20 YEARS AGO

April, 1940
Work opened on the Naramata Road on April 7, when a crew of 17 turned out. Each section of the road is being widened to 12 feet and properly surfaced. All the difficulties this side of the canyon have been overcome and if the first cut-in plan can be revived fast progress can be made.

30 YEARS AGO

April, 1930
Mr. J. B. Spurr reports that about 60 mountain sheep were seen last week on the west side of the lake near Flintry, indicating that they are coming down from their home on Terrace Mountain for the summer.

40 YEARS AGO
April, 1920
The newly formed Golf Club met under the chairmanship of the president, G. R. Binger, and on motion of Mr. Ballard, seconded by Dr. Knox, it was decided to purchase the Wollaston property for a course.

50 YEARS AGO
April, 1910
Mr. S. T. Elliott waited on city council Monday night to ascertain if they had any intention of putting in a proper fire alarm system, the need of which had been forcibly exemplified during the past week.

OTTAWA REPORT

Seaway Open Next Friday

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

This second season of the St. Lawrence Seaway, opening on 13th April, is expected to reveal the correctness of Canada's optimistic forecasts for this cheap carrier of commerce.

Last year was a Year of Excitement and a time of experiment on the Seaway. Like all trial runs, it provided often bitter and sometimes costly lessons along with the pride and the thrills. There were the frustrations and delays which are the normal experience of a dress rehearsal. But in this case they were aggravated by the novelty that anyone who cared to pay the entrance fee was permitted to join in the performance. Alas, some of the salt-water visitors were not merely unprepared, they were unacquainted. Leather-faced skippers who had spent a lifetime sailing the dangerous high seas found that they were less skilled at sailing the smooth but narrow canals than the Canadian "truck drivers" who earn their living on our sweet-water lakes.

But this year, things are expected to be different.

"As a result of our experiences last year, we are now better prepared for all eventualities," Hon. George Hees, our Minister of Transport, told me. "There should be fewer delays caused by improperly equipped ships, or by ships' crews inexperienced in operating in canals."

cargoes in our giant lakeboats is probably the cheapest transportation on the North American continent. The "Queens of the Inland Seas" can now, thanks to the new St. Lawrence Seaway, each carry 800,000 bushels of wheat, say 24,000 tons, from the Lakehead to a deep-water port on the St. Lawrence at a cost of 12 cents per bushel. That represents a saving of just over 8 cents per bushel on the pre-Seaway cost, when a giant Laker was obstructed by the International Rapids, and had to trans-ship her cargo into no less than ten "little canallers" for the last 120 miles of the journey to Montreal. And it represents a saving of 28 cents per bushel against the cost of rail transportation from the Lakehead to Montreal.

The Rebrin Case

The Irina Rebrin case has created another embarrassing situation for the immigration department. Again public sympathy seems to rest with the individual and the department has come under severe, if perhaps unjustified, criticism.

Miss Rebrin apparently entered Canada as a visitor on a Brazilian passport. She was sponsored by Toronto people and took a position there, eventually moving to Vancouver and becoming a Russian language instructor at UBC.

The immigration department eventually caught up with her and not unnaturally advised her that, as she was in this country on a visitor's permit, she must leave. There was a protest campaign organized on her behalf and there has been quite a to-do in the Vancouver papers. Her case was reviewed by the department, the minister and Prime Minister Diefenbaker and the decision was made that she must leave the country. The reason given was "security grounds."

While Miss Rebrin may deserve some measure of sympathy, it would seem to this newspaper that the decision of the department and the government must be accepted at its face value. The case has been reviewed by the minister herself and by the Prime Minister and it must be accepted that the "classified information" was such as to compel these officials to take the hard decision.

The classified information apparently revealed certain aspects of Miss Rebrin's case that gave grounds for refusing her permission to stay on "security grounds." This reason, we think, must be accepted. However in accepting the reason, we do feel that the department could amplify that phrase "security grounds." More could be said in way of explanation and some amplification of the department's reason could take the pressure off the department by indicating it is not being merely cold-blooded but has sound reasons for its seemingly callous decision.

Had there been not "security" reasons for the deportation order, it would seem the case could have been handled by Miss Rebrin returning to Brazil and reapplying for admission to this country.

If the security reasons are as important as they apparently are, one wonders if UBC itself is not deserving of some censure at least. University teachers are important persons in our educational system and it would seem that universities hiring them should assure themselves that they are desirable persons to hold such a position.

The Rebrin case, like the Chan case and others, would appear to be the direct result of public desire to see the individual concerned is justly treated. The public unfortunately cannot be as well informed as the government officials concerned and therefore must place some measure of faith in the justice of the department's decisions. The department, however, could be a little more informative as to the reasons for its decisions. The public is not unreasonable and if it knows the reasons for the department's decision, and they are sound reasons, it will support those decisions. However, without adequate explanation, the public cannot be blamed for asking "Why?"

Western Policy-Makers Ready to Meet Propaganda

By JOHN EARLE

LONDON (Reuters)—Western policy-makers, diplomats here believe, from now on will have to reckon with increasing Soviet efforts to enlist the sympathies of the millions inhabiting the rapidly developing continent of Africa.

Attacks on the Western powers for allegedly seeking to perpetuate economic colonialism occupy a prominent place in Soviet propaganda, including the speeches of Premier Nikita Khrushchev. This is seen here as an integral part of a policy designed to ensure that the swing shall be to the East.

Diplomats here have noted a growing Soviet interest in Africa since the beginning of 1959—a year in which the nine independent African countries are being joined by five more.

The five new states attaining independence are: Cameroon, which became independent Jan. 1; Togoland, April 27; Belgian Congo, June 30; Somalia, July 1; and Nigeria, with its 35,000,000 inhabitants, Oct. 1.

While headlines were captured here by Prime Minister Macmillan's visit to Africa in January, the Soviet Union also has sent several important visitors to the continent since the beginning of the year.

FINANCED DAM

The most spectacular was the visit to Cairo in January of the Soviet minister of power station construction, Ignat Novikov, who attended the inauguration of work on the first stage of the Aswan High Dam. While he was there, the Soviet Union agreed to finance the second stage of the dam, granting total credits equivalent to some $380,000,000 for the whole scheme.

Other evidence of Soviet interest noted here include the following:

1. A Soviet deputy foreign minister, Nikolai Fylov, was sent to attend the independence celebrations of Cameroon Jan. 1. After Fylov's visit, Cameroonian Premier Ahmadou Ahidjo said that he had received an offer of aid from the Soviet Union.
2. Nuridin Mukhlidov, chairman of the Supreme Soviet's foreign affairs committee and a member of the presidium of the Soviet Communist party, attended celebrations in Monrovia at the beginning of the year for the re-inauguration of President William Tubman of Liberia. He headed a 14-man Soviet delegation.
3. Khrushchev is to pay an official visit at a date yet to be arranged to Guinea, the West African state which broke away from the French Union. Sekou Toure, the president of Guinea, was in the Soviet Union in November last year and had talks with Khrushchev.
4. Africans will be among students from underdeveloped areas who will receive free technical training and education at a new "university of friendship for the people" opening in Moscow in the fall. They will follow courses in engineering, agriculture, medicine, economics, pedagogy and other subjects. Later, it is hoped to increase the number of these students to 3,000 or 4,000.

Sleeplessness Can Be Cured, Says Professor

VIENNA (Reuters)—Professor Victor E. Frankl, head of the Vienna Polytechnic's neurological department, has found that the best method of curing people of sleeplessness is to keep them awake.

He calls this method the "paradox intention." It works on the principle that the very fact suffers worry about going to sleep is enough to keep them awake. Conversely, he has found that when people concentrate on keeping awake, they usually fall asleep.

Professor Frankl feels that severe or chronic cases of sleeplessness must be cured at the root of the evil, usually a subconscious worry of some kind. But while the patient is being psychotherapeutically treated, the "paradox intention" idea usually gives him relief.

The professor explained that even the best sleeping pills tend to drug the patient. He has only light sleep instead of the deep, restful sleep he needs.

SEA SCALLOPS PROVENCALE

Scallops Becoming Nation-Wide Food

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"In the markets of every city we visit, Madame," observed the Chef, "I find scallops on sale."
"In interior cities they are in frozen food cabinets. At many fish markets and the fish departments of supermarkets, fresh sea scallops can also be found."

FROZEN SCALLOPS

"There are also frozen French-fried scallops available," Chef, I added, "and they add delicious-ness to frozen seafood platters."

"The scallops most widely sold are the muscle of large sea scallops, cut in small pieces. They have a pleasant fine-grained texture and distinctive flavor."

"The largest sea scallop bed at present is the Georges Bank, a large area in the Atlantic Ocean, 150 miles east of Nantucket Island. And the principal harvester today is the New Bedford scallop fleet, whose untiring efforts have made it possible for scallops to be sold nation-wide."

When French cooks add sugar is used, such as level teaspoon other seasonings used.

Never, never, would a French chef or cook add spoonfuls of plain sugar or syrup when preparing savory foods.

they had to stand by helplessly

Lips Like Grass for Space Age Glamor

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Lines for a poet of the strange '60s:

"Your eyes are like rubies,
your lips are like grass, your skin is like violets, my rainbow lass."
This is the new beauty prescription for glamor girls of the space age, and no fooling. Already on the United States market, and highly touted by experts in these matters, are colored contact lenses, violet or green face powder and lipstick in tradition-shattering shades of green, blue, violet and yellow as well as the old-hat rosy hues.

Eyes to match your costume color are the latest to hit the fashion spectrum, introduced at a recent full-dress fashion show in New York.

Colors available in the standard line of contact lenses include:
yellow; red; pink; orange; tangerine; tiger gold; three greens; from olive to emerald; three browns, including amber, topaz and espresso; lavender; orchid and jet. More than 100 other colors may be had by special order.
Even more startling, and recommended only for daring types, would be the mix-match trend—one red eye and one green, for instance.

GREEN FACE POWDER

Just to make things more confusing, there are the new face powder and foundation shades of green and lavender, currently promoted by some of the top U.S.
cosmetic houses, and the offbeat lipstick colors, also off and running.

When it comes to hair, the solar spectrum is the limit. As any girl who reads the fashion magazines knows, it's possible to have hair of any color, from emerald green to shocking pink, to match the color of a dress, and change it next day to peacock blue or orange. This may be done with the natural hair, by means of rinses, or by having a wardrobe of vari-colored wigs.

Add to the picture the current widespread use of colored eye-shadow, mascara and eyebrow pencil, and the new style beauty can stop traffic anywhere in the world.

The beauty experts argue that there's no law that says women have to have red lips and beige skin, pink cheeks and the hair nature gave them. After all these thousands of years, they feel women and their public may be tired of the same old face.

Cubs of the 6th Vernon Cub Pack.
When a local garage bought clean cotton bundles salvaged from rag bags, the enterprising boys collected a total of $10.00 for their efforts. Their profits, forwarded to the Unitarian So-

Ottawa, will help to give an

Expert Tells Timid Tasters To Try Specialty Dishes

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Canadians are timid in their approach to new foods.

That's the opinion of Hugh Craig, newly-elected president of the Canadian Restaurant Association.

Born in Ireland, he now makes his home at Fort Macleod Alta., 28 miles west of Lethbridge. Mr.
Craig has been in the restaurant business since 1932 when he opened a seven-stool hamburger stand in Fort Macleod. He now owns a variety store in Fort Macleod, a panache specialty house in Calgary and an extensive summer resort in Waterton Lakes National Park.

Interviewed while in Toronto for the annual association meeting, Mr. Craig said the successful restaurateur offers good food, good service and a friendly atmosphere.

The big change in restaurants is the growth of the specialty house, he says. Dining has also become much more leisurely and catering to families has become a big business.

A limited menu gives better quality control, he advises, and promotions are an effective way of introducing new or specialized foods.

Most diners scrutinize the prices before they even look at the menu. "We're real shoppers when it comes to menu prices,"
Mr. Craig says.

Many dining room customers busily add up the cost of making the same meal at home, but fail to take into account the number of services included in the price.

"No other industry goes through so many services, and they're bound to be reflected in the price," he explained.

REGIONAL TOPS

Mr. Craig would like to see the development of regional specialties. "In Alberta we push beef dishes and we do push it as Alberta beef." He would advise the Maritimes to take advantage of their seafoods, Quebec of its "marvellous pea soup" and British Columbia of its salmon.

The bane of the Canadian restaurant industry is the availability of operators' licences, Mr.
Craig says.

"Anyone can go down to city hall, take out a licence and

SUPERB SHOW

More Than 800 See Ice Frolic

By BETTY HEWLETT

Monica Jablonski and Tony Griffin thrilled nearly 800 figure skating fans Saturday night at the 11th annual ice frolic sponsored by the Kelowna Figure Skating Club. Their superb performance of professional skating was the highlight of the evening and brought continuous applause from the audience.

Equally outstanding in his two numbers was club professional Brian Power. He handled the difficult jumps and splits in Encore and Salute to Gershwin with skill and brilliance.

Kelowna girls combined with eight Vernonettes for the ballet number Swan Lake. Their white ballerina length costumes were perfect for this impressive number. Ann Gorman, soloist in Swan Lake, portrayed grace and feeling in her skating.

Comedy on the ice was supplied by boys of Vernon's minor hockey club dressed as scrub women with pails and brooms.

Dance hall ladies, pink garters and all, buckskin clad Indian maidens and gun toting cowboys were among the 65 junior skaters in a panorama of the "Wild West."

The arena rang with shots as cowboys chased outlaws around the ice. The boys, each named for a famous gunman, enjoyed this fun-number as much as the audience. The imagination and color shown in costumes added greatly to this presentation from the west.

First gold medalist in the Okanagan Valley, Ross Bilky, of the Vernon club, was soloist in a charming number Black Orchid. Diane Gonder and Ted Van der Vliet, silver dance medalists, waltzed together in Let's Dance.

Other outstanding skaters included Jacqueline Hay of Penticton in a graceful dance selection; novelty rock and roll adaptation by Lynne Sawicki, of Vernon, and precision skating by the Kelowna Ladies Drill Team.

Mr. Powers is to be commended on his excellent choreography and direction of the two-hour long production. The display of skill and grace by these up-and-coming young ice performers indicates that more valley skaters could well turn professional and make figure skating their career.

A great deal of work was put into the costumes, under the direction of Mrs. E. Donnelly. Make-up for the 150 skaters was directed by Kathy Hillier.

Arthur Clark in charge of publicity termed this year's ice frolic "an excellent performance and well enjoyed by the audience."

Penticton, Kamloops Take Baseball League Openers

SUMMERLAND (CP) — Penticton's successful start in the 1960 Okanagan Mainline Baseball League was helped by two nagan-Mainline Baseball League fifth-inning errors that paved the way for five runs, bounced to a Summerland Macs here Sunday.

The Red Sox counted single runs in the first and third innings. They stretched the margin to 7-0 in the fifth as the Summerland miscued and two timely hits produced the winning rally.

Summerland came back for three runs in the bottom of the fifth and singles in the sixth and eighth, but the damage was too great.

Bud Englesby, mainstay of Red Sox pitching corps last season, scattered 10 hits Sunday and was particularly effective in the clutch. Bill Chapman, relieved in the fifth by Bill Martino, took the loss.

In the only other league action, Kamloops edged Vernon 8-7 at Kamloops.

Trail, Oliver, Kelowna and Merritt were idle Sunday and will see their first league action next weekend.

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A sharp single by catcher Bob Anderson in the last of the ninth inning gave the winning run as Kamloops Okonots took a narrow 8-7 victory from Vernon Carings the season's opener.

Jack Fowles, who came on in the ninth inning, took the victory, while Vernon's Russ Kechalo suffered the loss.

Fowles connected for the only extra-base hit of the game, getting a solo homer in the third.

Leafs, Canadiens Dispute Goals In Saturday's Game

MONTREAL (CP)—They fashioned a one-goal standoff in the gripping game after Saturday night's Stanley Cup game.

On the ice, where it counted, Montreal Canadiens triumphed Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1 to go two up in the best-of-seven set.

In the dressing room post-mortem, each club figured a goal had been called back for no good reason.

Montreal's claim dealt with Claude Provost's game ending shot into the empty Toronto net after goalie Johnny Bower had been removed in favor of a sixth attacker.

Referee Eddie Powers ruled the green light had gone on indicating the game was over before goal judge Sonny Hunter of Boston flashed the red light to show the puck had entered the net.

Provost, coach Hector (Toe) Blake, and managing director Frank Selke Sr. of the Canadiens disagreed.

BLAKE SAYS IMPORTANT Blake said the light switches are so synchronized that the red light cannot be turned on after the green light.

"They've even got the lights going for them," he moaned in reference to the Leafs.

Then, obviously thinking of Montreal's cushion in the series, he brightened quickly.

"But I'm satisfied. We won. I don't care if they didn't allow that last goal — except for Provost."

In the Toronto dressing room, the Leafs were unhappy about what they thought should have been a goal on a shot by Johnny Wilson with six minutes of play.

It would have tied the score. In the Toronto dressing room, the Leafs were unhappy about what they thought should have been a goal on a shot by Johnny Wilson with six minutes of play.

Frank Mahovlich, whose pass set up the play, swung around behind the net and raised his stick in the traditional goal-scoring gesture. The play went on.

In the dressing room, Mahovlich said:

"I'm sure that went in. I was right behind the net. I could see it perfectly. It seemed to hit just inside across the red line."

Coach Punch Imlach of the Leafs backed up Mahovlich on that point.

Imlach and assistant coach-manager Frank King Clancy thought the Leafs had "outplayed them" (the Canadiens) all the way.

"THEY WERE LUCKY" Said Clancy, shaking his head sadly:

"They were lucky. Imagine, to outplay a team like that and lose."

Said Imlach, "We'll get them—we'll beat them if we play like that."

Blake said he felt his club had turned in a better performance than in the series opener Thursday night, when they upended the Leafs 4-2.

"We skated a lot better. But so did they. They played pretty good defensive hockey."

The Leafs trooped into their dressing room, silently handed their sticks to assistant trainer Tommy Naylor, and sat down on the benches to sip soft drinks.

Goalie Bower was the only player who talked it up.

"Tough luck, gang," he shouted. "We went down together but we know we can beat them now."

Tough break, Johnny," he yelled across the room to a dejected Wilson.

PRAISE FOR BOWER Imlach thought Bower had turned in a great game.

"You couldn't find any fault with Johnny tonight. If we can't score more than one goal for him, you can't expect him to shut them out to win."

Imlach singled out veteran Bert Olinstead—a former star with the Canadiens—as Toronto's most effective performer of the night.

"It was one of his greatest games for us," said the coach to reporters, pointing to a dispirited Olinstead sitting wordlessly on a bench with head down.

Cards Score 13-8 Record In Spring Exhibitions

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals are the National League champs of the exhibition baseball season and when manager Solly Hemus cautions "don't under-rate us," it might be time to listen.

Seventh and woeful with a porous defence, erratic pitching and little batting punch in 1959, the rejuvenated Cards head into Tuesday's National League opener at San Francisco after rousing up an 18-8 spring record.

While the exhibition season is sometimes about as helpful as second guessing yesterday's weather, the Cards have been an eye-popping revelation this spring.

ADDED STRENGTH There's added nitching in ex-pirate Ronnie Kline and young Bob Miller, more sock with Daryl Spencer, Bob Nieman, Leon Wagner and Stan Musial, and a healthier defence with Spencer at short and Musial's aging legs at first instead of the outfield.

Add these to pitchers like Larry Jackson, Ernie Broglio, Lindy McDaniel and Vinegar Bend Mizell, and steady hitters Joe Cunningham, Bill White and Ken Boyer, and there's reason for Hemus' optimism.

Broglio and Gibson handled the pitching and Musial had three hits Sunday as the Cards posted victory No. 18, 5-2 over the Chicago Cubs.

In other Sunday games, which wound up the warm-up season for the Nationals, Los Angeles whipped San Francisco 8-4, Cincinnati's four first-inning runs clipped Milwaukee 4-2, Pittsburgh edged Kansas City 3-2, Baltimore blanked Philadelphia 5-0, New York Yankees stopped Chicago White Sox on a one-hitter 11-0, Cleveland edged Boston 9-8 and Washington beat Detroit 5-4.

SOX BLANKED Right-hander Jim Coates and reliever Ryne Duren combined for the Yanks' one-hitter that coasted the White Sox their first shutout. Elston Howard had two hits for New York, including a three-run homer.

Cleveland had 20 hits—16 off the clock in six innings—but needed Bubba Phillips' ninth-inning homer to beat Boston. Gene Stephens homered twice for the Red Sox.

Rookie Chuck Estrada and lefty Rip Coleman combined for Baltimore's five-hit shutout of Philadelphia. Frank Robinson's two-run homer off Juan Pizarro featured Cincinnati's big first against the Braves.

Smoky Burgess, pinch-hitting for winner Roy Fye in the ninth, singled to score Don Hoak with Pittsburgh's winner over Kansas City. Julio Becquer's double scored Jim Lemon from first in the ninth for Washington's squeaker over Detroit.

Larry Sherry, Roger Craig and Danny McDevitt, each working three innings, kept the Giants under reasonable control while the Dodgers clipped Georges Maranda, Joe Shirley and Ray Montant for 13 hits, including five doubles.

EARNEST PUPILS CLYDEBANK, Scotland (CP)—Thirty angry schoolboys marched to the education offices of this town and demanded more lessons. They say they spend four hours a week doing nothing.

Chatham Nips Rouyn 3-2

CHATHAM (CP)—Chatham Maroons hung on grimly in the third period to eke out a 3-2 victory over Rouyn-Noranda Alouettes in the fourth game of their All-Ontario Senior A playoff finals here Saturday night.

By virtue of their win, Maroons forced a fifth and deciding game here tonight with the winner advancing to the Eastern Canada finals against Hull, Que.

Stan Tallon's Alouettes came within a whisker of forcing overtime before 2,200 spectators here Saturday.

Outplayed by a wide margin for two periods and facing a 3-0 deficit, Als struck back for two third period goals then extended Maroons the limit before time ran out.

Gary Sharp scored twice for Chatham in the penalty-strewn contest with Billy Torhan bagging the other for the winners.

Ray Dupuis and Dino Leggio tallied for Rouyn-Noranda.

Chatham led 2-0 at the end of the first, Sharp getting both goals. Only the fine play of Alouette goalie Bobbie Smith saved the visitors from complete disaster as he made 16 stops in the first period.

Eskimo Life In Pictures Top Photographer's Aim

By PETER EMMOREY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP)—His hands were frozen as white as the snow that swirled around him.

In spite of it, Henry Busse, 64, struggled from the dog sled, unslung his camera and snapped a picture of trapper Howard McIntosh huddled against the wind with his dogteam burrowed into the snow.

The photograph, taken in 1955 in a blizzard at 40 below zero, won several prizes for the soft-spoken German photographer and was shown at the Brussels World Fair in 1958.

Henry Busse's hands, parts of his fingers stiffened and sections of skin still white, testify to his dedication to his art.

PHOTO STUDIO In the 13 years he has operated his tiny photo studio in this sub-arctic community of 4,000, about 600 miles north of Edmonton, his camera has caught the majesty of the northern night, the loneliness of the trapper's life, the fury of arctic animals and the naive curiosity of the Eskimo.

The visitor is not likely to find Mr. Busse at home. He heads "down" north on photo expeditions as often as he can, travelling with flying missionaries, by dog sled, canoe or motorboat.

"I don't give a damn about business," he growls. "I just want to shoot. I've got to have my finger on the trigger."

Another of Mr. Busse's well-known pictures, Arctic Sundogs, was taken in 1950. It was a busy Saturday and there were customers in his studio. He looked through the window, grabbed a camera and left the customers to run up a hill where he shot the sun as it hung low over the horizon with brilliant sundogs on either side, glowing snow and sharply silhouetted trees.

JUST BEGINNING Henry Busse estimates he has taken 5,000 pictures a year since turning professional at 52. They are just the beginning.

OUTDOORS WOMEN STE. MARIE DE BEAUCHE, Que. (CP)—Women's organizations in this district 40 miles southeast of Quebec have been invited to join in the activities of the Ste. Marie fish and game club.

Canada Potential Buyer Of France's Sahara Oil

By DAVE OANCA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HASSI MESSAOU, Algeria. (CP)—Four years ago a gush of bluish-green liquid shot this black, desolate patch of the Sahara Desert into the 20th century.

Discovery of oil in the sandy wastes, 400 miles southeast of Algiers, transformed the region.

For the leathery nomad plodding across the desert on his camel, the change has not yet meant much. Unlike his more settled Arab neighbors, he has not deigned to join the hunt for the liquid Europeans seem to want so badly.

But for Frenchmen everywhere—wearing by government crises and difficult battles—the discovery was an important morale booster. To many this and other desert discoveries marked the launching of a new golden age of prosperity.

The Sahara fields are richer than even the most wildly optimistic experts dared guess when the first well came in on that sizzling June day in 1956.

Within three years France will be able to meet all her petroleum requirements from Sahara sources. Then she will cast around for export markets, a task that promises to be almost as difficult as making the initial discovery.

Canada is being eyed as a possible market. A spokesman for the Societe Nationale de Recherche et d'Exploitation des Petroles en Algerie (SN Repal) referred recently to a study made of ways to break into the Canadian market.

He declined to elaborate beyond saying that the Compagnie Francaise des Petroles has a sizable financial interest in the Canadian oil industry and that possibly this could be used to find an outlet.

The obvious market areas would be either the Maritimes or Montreal, where refiners import their crude oil supplies from the Middle East or Venezuela.

HOPES EXCEEDED In Europe—even in the French-led Common Market—Sahara oil is viewed as an unwelcome intruder by international companies. They can take it only by reducing their own Middle East production.

This problem, however, is not deterring the French pioneers who are pressing firmly ahead both with development of the fields and the creation of an attractive community for oil workers.

Drillers work around the clock to complete new wells as quickly as possible. Fifty-two wells now are in production, each pouring out 400 tons of oil daily. Middle East wells, in comparison, produce roughly 700 tons a day and those in Venezuela about 50 tons daily.

ENOUGH FOR YEARS The reserves—which lie at a depth of about 10,000 feet—are estimated at about 500,000,000 tons, enough to meet France's requirements for at least 20 years.

Production is to be stepped up from the present rate of 4,000,000 tons annually to 14,000,000 tons—the capacity of the pipeline to the Mediterranean coast—by 1963.

Opening lead - king of diamonds.
 The finest compliment you can pay a bridge player is to say that he sees through the backs of the cards. What is meant by this is that he plays as though all 52 cards are exposed; and almost anybody would play perfectly if he knew where each card was located.

Sometimes this flair is called "card reading." For an example of excellent card reading we have this hand played by Harry Fishbein in the match last year between the United States and Argentina.

West led the K-Q of diamonds; the Q-10.

RESIDENTS WORRIED OVER DEBRIS IN CREEK

Residents living along Mill Creek, from the Kuntz Court east to Five Bridges, are concerned over the amount of debris that is impeding the flow of muddy water. During the past week, the creek has come up over a foot. Picture on the LEFT shows a former foot bridge, near the Kelowna Nursery, that has collapsed. The piles are in the middle of the stream and are snagging branches, trees and other rubbish. Picture RIGHT shows willow trees that have grown out into the stream, choking the path of the water. This picture was taken at the same location where a bridge was removed last year.

Individual MPs Would Have Different Budget

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — If individual MPs had shaped the federal budget it would have been far different from the one presented to the Commons by Finance Minister Fleming.

Tax rates were left unchanged by Mr. Fleming and the only tariff changes of much consequence were increases in the charges on imported cotton textiles as a measure of protection for the Canadian industry.

The ensuing budget debate saw two senior government supporters criticize government policies, one advocating greater tariff protection and the other less emphasis on defence spending and greater aid underdeveloped countries.

Earl Rowe (PC-Dufferin-Simcoe), who has served in Parliament since 1925 with only a one-year break, advocated scrapping of free-trade principles which, he said, the Progressive Conservative government has carried on after inheriting them from the Liberals. He called for an overhaul of the tariff structure with greater emphasis on protecting Canadian industry from competition.

French Being Used More In House Debates

By GUY RONDEAU
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Greater use is being made of French in House of Commons debates.

It's chiefly because of the system of simultaneous translation set up last session. But another reason is that at least three cabinet ministers whose mother tongue is English speak French when the opportunity arises.

Finance Minister Fleming, Transport Minister Hees and Justice Minister Fulton usually respond in French to members' questions in that language.

All are familiar enough with French so that they don't have to depend on the communications system connected to each desk which provides translation of questions in English, and English into French.

Before the translation system was set up there were few questions in French. But now members who speak only one language are able to keep up with the interplay through tiny earphones.

Observers recall that Agriculture Minister Harkness has spoken in French in the Commons without use of notes.

Postmaster-General Hamilton in another English-speaking minister who expresses himself easily in the language having spent seven years on Montreal city council where debates generally are in French.

Recently, while presenting a resolution involving an alternative method of financial assistance to Canadian universities—a subject of major interest to Quebec—Mr. Fleming delivered part of his speech in French.

MURDER, INC.

Brooklyn Characters Won't Talk

By BERNARD GAVZER

NEW YORK (AP) — In the Brooklyn neighborhood where the staff members of Murder, Inc., congregated, there are still people who remember incidents as though they happened yesterday.

And there are still some pretty tough characters who were playmates of the late Mendy Weiss, Abe Reles, Louis (Lenke) Buchalter and Pittsburgh Phil Strauss—the gang's hierarchy.

To get something of the flavor of the area into a new movie, producer Burt Balaban paid a visit to the old cigar store where the gang stashed its weapons and the barbershop where they daily got shaves.

As soon as Balaban mentioned the words "Murder, Inc." the atmosphere got chilly. A scar-faced bruiser told the barber, "don't tell him nothing." He jerked a thumb toward Balaban. Then he walked out.

The barber said to Balaban: "If you don't want a haircut, then you don't need to stay here. You see how it is."

MINOR IRRITATIONS

The incident was just one of the minor irritations which Balaban, 38-year-old son of Barney Balaban, president of Paramount Pictures, ran into in making a movie of Murder, Inc., the best-selling book by former Brooklyn district attorney Burton Turkus.

"I'm not crusading and I'm not out to glorify crime," Balaban says about the movie. "I want to show how gangsters like Lepke subverted government and ran a powerful government of their own. I want to show that these killers exist today and that every person in the United States still pays hidden tribute in some way to these hoodlums."

As to Murder, Inc., it didn't end with Lepke (who was captured near Barrie, Ont., dying in the electric chair). There have been enough gang-style killings in recent years to show that an execution arm still exists. But the Apalachian meeting is the best evidence that the syndicate or Mafia, or whatever you want to call it, still goes on.

How will your Estate be distributed?

Will the best interests of your family be kept in mind? Today too many men with modest estates would have to answer this question with a perplexed shrug of the shoulders. But it is a part of your personal affairs that should be sure of. Did you know, for example, that if you fail to provide for the settlement of your estate before you die the law steps in after and does it for you? The results could bring hardship where it is least deserved.

There are two people in your community who can help you solve the problem. First is your lawyer who will be glad to help you draw up a proper will.

Second is your Manufacturers Life representative. He will welcome the opportunity to review your life insurance estate and bring up-to-date such matters as who will receive the money and how it will be paid.

deadline by half an hour.

"And that was it," Balaban says. "I put everything I have into this. If I make anything, the money won't really come in for a few years. Right now, I'm $6,000 in debt. But it's done."

South Africa Can't Force Negroes To Work — Legally

By ADRIAN PORTER
JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Legally, South African police have no direct authority to force Negroes to work.

Yet the few political spokesmen left untouched by recent mass arrests claim that Negroes in Nyanga Township outside Capetown were bludgeoned by police into going back to work this week. The Negroes there maintained a massive stay-at-home movement until police made three sweeps through the settlement with whips, clubs and armored cars.

The police claimed these raids were to "intimidate" individuals who were terrorizing the workers into staying home.

While there may be no legal basis for police directly forcing Negroes to work, the network of laws and controls over the Negro in South Africa make it almost impossible for him to stay clear of the police if he is not working.

Get Rich On Races? Then Perish Idea

By ALLAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — So you think you can get rich at the races? Perish the thought, sucker. A coolly impartial body says it's just about impossible.

This latest caution to chalk players, who probably will blithely ignore it, comes from a British magazine that monthly fixes a fearless eye on the merits of timed tuna, vacuum cleaners and soap flakes.

The magazine, Which? published by Consumers' Association Limited—buys a household product at retail stores and checks on their credentials through laboratory and user tests carried out in consultation with specialists.

In the March issue the editors discuss lawn mowers, queen bee jelly and the question of whether detergents harm cutlery. Then suddenly they switch from the housewife's world to the stables, and ask whether racing pays.

To nobody's surprise, the answer is no.

With characteristic thoroughness the shoppers' watchdog delved fearlessly into the soothsaying record of 20 British racing correspondents, viewed over the 13-year period from 1947 to 1959.

Maybe it was unlucky 13 that did it, but none of the correspondents showed a profit. Losses of a £1 win stake ranged from 225 for the top prognosticator, who ironically happens to work for a greyhound tip sheet, to £200 for the tipster of the Irish Times.

The survey was based on "nap" selections. Nap, a word derived from a popular British card game, means best bet. The percentage of winning naps ranged from 42 per cent—slightly higher than the percentage of winning favorites here or in Canada—to 23 per cent for the Irish Times man.

GOOD SEASONS

All of the racing correspondents managed to make a profit in at least one year, and both The Daily Mail (Robin Goodfellow) and The Daily Telegraph (Hotspur) managed to make both ends meet, with something to spare, in seven seasons out of the 13.

This Man Likes Viewing World Upside Down!

VANCOUVER (CP)—Al Forbes says in this topsy-turvy modern-day world he likes to view things from the proper perspective—standing on his head.

"You've no idea how peaceful it is," he said. "The world looks a lot less complicated than it does when I am the right side up."

The 29-year-old Forbes says he is not a physical health faddist. However, every day for the last two years, except for an occasional break when he finds a job, he has walked barefoot down to Beach Avenue near English Bay, stripped to the waist and gone through a bewildering series of physical exercises, culminating in a five-minute session of standing on his head.

The rest of the day he spends juggling seven lacrosse balls—he says he hopes one day to juggle 10—in his room or reading books on engineering in the public library.

"Never been sick a day in my life," Forbes says, his 156 pounds packed neatly into a trim, muscular frame.

Shoes are his pet aversion. "I wear a pair of boots when I go to pick up my monthly relief cheque, but that's all."

His antics on Beach Avenue attract a daily audience of bewildered motorists, some of whom skid to a stop when they see a body, naked except for black trousers, rigidly inverted on the grass.

CALLED POLICE

Beach Avenue residents have become accustomed to the sight, although the first time he did it someone called the police.

"Three police cruisers turned up in response to a call that a crazy guy was doing a strip tease on the beach," Forbes recalled.

His best friends are the children of the area. Even their candidness doesn't upset him.

"A little boy came up to me one day and said 'My Mommy says you are crazy.'"

But in his own unusual way, good-natured Al Forbes has achieved a peace of mind and joy in living.

"And I go to sleep at night as quickly as if I had been hit over the head with a hammer."
